BRAMBLE KILLED AT SAN FRANCISCO

VISITED PARENTS HERE THREE WEEKS AGO

A GUN BY HIS SIDE

Young Man Left Maryville Apparently Happy and in Good Spirits—27 Years Old

Special to Democrat-Forum

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 10—A man believed to be William Robert Bramble of Maryville, Mo., was found in the Golden Gate Park with a twenty-five calibre revolver by side and shot through the head. He registered at a local hotel September 29. The police is wiring Maryville, Mo., authorities today.

The Democrat-Forum late this afternoon received the following message:

William R. Bramble, 22 years old, kills self in park here today. He comes from Maryville, Mo.—San Francisco Examiner.

George T. Bramble received a message this afternoon from Coroner Leland at San Francisco, Cal., stating that his son, William Robert Bramble was dead and they were holding the remains awaiting instructions. Mr. Bramble wired at once for particulars and also to have the body shipped here.

Mr. Bramble knew of no reason why his son should have ended his life. The young man was here about three weeks ago for a 3-days' visit with his parents. He was on his way from Michigan, where he had been working since about June 1. He left here for Kansas City on his way to San Francisco, as an employe of the Santa Fe railway. He was not sent directly to that city, however. He was sent first to Montana. A week ago his parents received word saying that he had arrived in San Francisco. He seemed cheerful and happy when he left Maryville.

Robert Bramble was 27 years old and was born at Skidmore. He served three years in the army. He went to the Mexican border as a member of a band. Later he played in a band during the World War, being discharged at Battle Creek, Michigan. He returned to Maryville but later went back to Battle Creek, where he worked until a year ago. He came home and was employed by the Sewell garage until he left last spring for Michigan.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Bramble and four sisters and two brothers, all of Maryville. They are Mrs. Andy Baker, Mrs. Everett Baker, Misses Ethel and Thelma Bramble, and George and Louie Bramble.

CHESTER GILBERT WAS ARRESTED TODAY

Indicted by the Grand Jury on a Charge of Violating Prohibition Law on June 25

Chester Gilbert who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of violating the prohibition law, was arrested today and pleaded not guilty in circuit court. Bail was fixed at $500. The alleged offense took place about June 25.

PRACTI-PEDICS EXPERT VISITS IN MARYVILLE

Alexis Lee, representing the American School of Practi-pedics and also the resident post-graduate Practi-pedic School, both Chicago institutions, charged under the state laws of Illinois for the study of shoe fitting and minor foot troubles such as corns, callouses, bunions, arch troubles and excessive perspiration was in the Democrat-Forum office recently and gave some interesting data regarding foot hygiene and foot efficiency.

He said that Frank J. Cook and John J. Mutz, who are associated with the Bee Hive Shoe Store, have graduate diplomas from each of these schools and are doing some good work along these lines. Mr. Lee mentioned a specific case of a man who was turned over to Mr. Cook by a physician. The man could scarcely walk. Mr. Cook fitted him with arches and correct shoes and now he gets about as well as anyone.

HAROLD MOORE DANGEROUSLY HURT THIS MORNING

Was Knocked from Truck by limb—Physician Says That He Believes Boy Will Recover

Harold Moore, a member of the senior class of the Maryville High School and president of the debating club of that institution, was seriously injured this morning when he was knocked from a truck of Holloway & Sons at the Tourists' Park. His shoulder was broken and he received a severe blow on the head, causing concussion of the brain.

He was taken to the St. Francis hospital, where he began slowly gaining consciousness after about two hours. His physician said at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon that he believed that he would recover unless there were complications.

Harold was assisting Roland Holloway haul some benches in from the park to the court house to be used for serving for the Nodaway County School Day tomorrow. He was standing on the rear of the truck as it was driven under a tree. When the limb struck him he lighted on the ground on his head and shoulders. His face was scratched and bruised and his wrist sprained.

The senior class of the high school and the debating club, each sent him flowers this afternoon.

Harold lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Rebecca Brink.

JAPAN'S RATIFICATION DOCUMENT IS SENT.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Official documents of ratification of the arms conference treaties are en route to Washington from Tokio, it was officially learned today. Except for the United States, Japan is the first to ratify the treaties. Great Britain and China will ratify the treaties, but France and Italy are delaying approval.

SKIDMORE WILL HAVE PIG CLUB

IS FIRST SCHOOL IN COUNTY TO TAKE UP NEW PLAN

FOR MARKET PURPOSES

$107.50 in Prizes to be Given—To be Barrow, Gilt and Litter Classes

The Skidmore Consolidated School is the first one in the county to take up the matter of a pig club for its boys and girls under the new plan that has been arranged by Roy A. Kinnaird, county agent. The new plan is that of making the club a consolidated school and township affair in place of making it county-wide as it was this year.

Mr. Kinnaird met yesterday afternoon with J. W. Pierce, superintendent of the Skidmore School, and the members of the board and they took well to the plan.

There is a different goal under the new plan from the one that has been held up in the past. It is that of raising a good pig for market instead of a high quality for breeding purposes.

In the Skidmore schools $107.50 will be given in prizes. There will be a barrow class and a gilt class. First prize in each of these will be $5 and the prizes will range from this down to 50 cents for tenth place in each of the classes. A premium will also be given for the best litters of pigs. These will be as follows: $15 for first place, $12.50 for second place, $10 for third place, $7.50 for fourth place, $5 for fifth place and $2.50 for sixth place.

Those who enrolled in the club are to take instructions at six meetings that will be held by Mr. Kinnaird. The first of these will be this fall as soon as the enrollment is completed. It will be for the purpose of perfecting the organization and explaining just what is to be done. The second meeting will be in January and Mr. Kinnaird will give instructions regarding the different breeds of hogs and the selection of brood sows to obtain the best results.

The third meeting will be in February and Mr. Kinnaird will talk on the care of the brood sow and if possible will show to the club members the hog worm film.

In March the meeting will be a lesson on the value of a forage crop for hogs and methods of planting and raising these crops will be discussed.

In April the subject will be that of a lesson on prevention of diseases in hogs with films on cholera and vaccination.

In May the closing lesson will be given. It will be on feeding shoats for the market, and the use of the self-feeder, along with the economic side of the different rations.

The members of the club will be urged to buy pure bred gilts but will not be required to do so.

The show will be held in connection with the school fair for the Skidmore consolidated district net alxfl.

STEAMSHIP GOES DOWN WITH ENTIRE CREW.

North Sydney, N. S. Oct. 10.—A large steamship sank off of Cape North during last Tuesday's gale with all aboard lost, according to a telegram received today by Lloyd's agency here. The message was sent by Lloyd's agent at the Bay of St. Lawrence.

EXECUTIVES SAY ROADS DID NOT MAKE MUCH

Washington, Oct. 10—Class one railroads of the United States earned only enough in August to have paid their annual dividend of 2.65 per cent, falling short of 5.75 per cent, the return fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the association of railway executives announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Strader of Colorado Springs, Colo., motored here last night to visit at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Jerry Tarpley on North Mulberry street and with Mr. Strader's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Strader.

ATTENTION G. A. R.

All comrades are requested to meet at the post rooms Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., sharp, to take part in the parade. Transportation will be provided for all who are not able to walk.

COUNTY COURT TO TAKE UP NEW ROAD NEAR WILCOX

Will Be in Session Tomorrow to Consider Matter of Abolishing Railroad Crossing Near Wilcox

A meeting of the county court will be held tomorrow to consider the matter of securing the right-of-way for a new road and doing away with four Wabash railroad crossings near Wilcox. There has been an agitation for some time for a new road near Wilcox so as to abolish the railroad crossings. It is up to the county court to secure the right-of-way. It is understood some of the land owners have set a figure of 400 an acre with a bonus of $1,000 on some of the land necessary for the right-of-way.

PICTURES WITH HIGH SCHOOLS' STUNTS

TO BE THOSE OF CALVES TAKEN IN ST. JOSEPH

MANY PREPARATIONS

Most of the Schools Throughout County to be Closed for the Rest of Week

The motion pictures of the calves in the calf clubs show, taken last week at St. Joseph stock yards by Ralph Marcell, will be shown tomorrow evening in connection with the stunts that are to be put on by the high schools of the county, it was announced today. J. I. Gibson of the St. Joseph stockyards and some of the other members of the staff there will be in Maryville to see the pictures shown.

The pictures that were taken of the calves of the Nodaway County club while they were being shown in Maryville will be run. Mr. Marcell is working on the films today and expects to get them ready by tomorrow morning.

Signs of the big day that is to be held tomorrow are to be seen in many places in Maryville today. Wagons and motor cars are bringing in various things from the country with which to decorate the windows.

A Maryville man driving in the country this morning said that he passed a number of schools and that he saw teachers and pupils building floats at some of them.

The Maryville schools will close this evening for School Day and the teachers meeting at the State Teachers College and will remain closed until Monday.

All of the schools in the county that take part in the School Day will be closed tomorrow and most of the schools of the county will be closed until Monday in order that the teachers may attend the teachers meeting. Only in cases where teachers elect to attend the State Teachers meeting in Kansas City will there be school Thursday and Friday.

Tables are being moved in from the College Park to be placed in the court house grounds, where cocoa will be served by the home economics department of the Maryville High School, in charge of Miss Katherine Carpenter and Miss Elizabeth Leet.

MERCHANTS TAXES PAYABLE ON AND BEFORE NOV. 1

Penalty Goes on After that Time—January 1 Has Been the Time Limit Heretofore

All merchants taxes are payable on and before November 1 and after that date a penalty will go on. Mrs. Edith Glenn, county treasurer, is sending out notices today to the merchants subject to the tax. Heretofore it has been the custom, to collect these taxes on and before the first of January, but the law states they are payable on and before the first of November.

In a letter from State Auditor George E. Hackmann, he writes:

"The law does not contemplate any delinquent merchants' tax, but all such taxes charged to the collector must be reported by him as collected on or before November first each year. Section 13077 and 78 provide the penalty for failure of any person, corporation or copartnership to pay the amount of tax assessed against him or them, and section 13080 makes it the duty of the collector to institute suit without delay upon the bond so forfeited."

Visitor From Oklahoma

Mrs. R. B. Caldwell of Bristow, Okla., arrived in Maryville last night for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eph Tilton.

JUDGE WILLIAMSON WILL SPEAK HERE

KANSAS CITY LAWYER AT DEMOCRATIC RALLY OCT. 16

ALSO REED AND SPRATT

Meeting Will Be Held in a Tent and Will Commence at 7:30 O'Clock That Evening

Judge John I. Williamson of Kansas City will be one of the speakers at the Democratic meeting to be held in Maryville Monday night, October 16, according to a message received by Chairman Dan R. Baker of the Democratic county committee. Judge Williamson was on the supreme court bench and was defeated for re-election at the election two years ago. Judge Williamson supported Long in the primary campaign.

W. E. Spratt, candidate for congressman, will also be one of the speakers at the meeting.

In addition to these two speakers, Senator James A. Reed will give the main address. This is Senator Reed's first visit to Nodaway County during the campaign, failing to get here before the primary on account of the heavy rains at that time.

Democrats from all over Nodaway County will be in attendance. A number of Republicans who are expecting to vote for Reed will be present.

The meeting will be held in a tent furnished by the state committee. It has not been definitely decided as yet where the tent will be placed. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Frederick D. Gardner, former Governor of Missouri, who has just returned from an extended trip to Europe, will speak at various points in Southeast Missouri in behalf of the Democratic party, according to an announcement made yesterday by H. P. Raglaud, Chairman of the Speakers Bureau of the Democratic State Committee. Mr. Gardner will close the campaign in Nodaway County on Nov. 4.

Governor Gardner, accompanied by former United States Senator Xenophon P. Wilfley will address a mass meeting at Joplin on the afternoon of October 21st and a large rally and campaign meeting at Springfield that night. They will also address campaign meetings at Sikeston on the afternoon of October 28th, and Poplar Bluff that night.

The keynote speech on state issues and taxation will be delivered at Hannibal tonight by A. T. Dumm of Jefferson City, Dumm was an active supporter of Breckenridge Long during the primary campaign, was formerly a member of the state legislature and is a delegate to the Constitutional Convention. It is expected tonight's meeting will be one of the largest Democratic rallies and campaign meetings held since the opening of the campaign on September 27th.

United States Senator James A. Reed will also address the Hannibal meeting, as will Mrs. R. E. Oldfather of St. Louis, who also supported Long in the primary.

Dumm will speak at a series of meetings throughout the state between now and November 7. His schedule this week is as follows: Paris, Wednesday night; Moberly, Thursday night; Brunswick, Friday and Carrollton Saturday night. Senator Reed will address each of these meetings. Mrs. Florella Carter of Bucklin, Mo., will address the Paris and Carrollton meetings.

The Democratic State Committee has announced the following tent meetings and rallies for the week starting October 16: Maryville, Monday; Hamilton, Tuesday; Plattsburg, Wednesday; Independence, Thursday; Higginsville, Friday and Warrensburg, Saturday.

SHIP COMPANIES TO COMBAT AMERICA'S LIQUOR LAW

London, Oct. 10—Representatives of shipping companies plying between Baltic Sea and the North Atlantic coast met here today to take action to combat the American government's ruling that ships carrying liquor are refused entrance to American ports. It is not disclosed what action is contemplated but it is intimated reprisals will be suggested.

Are Visiting Here.

Dr. and Mrs. John LeGrand Baker of St. Joseph arrived in Maryville today for a few days' visit here and to attend the Nodaway County rural school day. Dr. Baker said there were several St. Joseph people intending to attend the celebration here.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY IS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Increase in Output of Establishments and in Employment at Factories.

Washington, Oct. 10.—That American industry is now marking up the best production record since the period of depression two years ago, is shown in the new business survey issued today by the department of commerce. Increase in output is general in all industries and factory employment larger than at the end of 1920 is held as the chief factor of more even distribution of buying power. The declines in agricultural products is believed only temporary, the report says.

VOCATIONAL MEN IN FUND DRIVE

TO CAMPAIGN AMONG STUDENTS FOR SALVATION ARMY

WOMEN GET RESULTS

Collections Among Business Men May be Somewhat Delayed by School Day

The vocational students in the State Teachers College will hold a meeting tomorrow morning for the purpose of making plans for carrying on the Salvation Army drive for funds among the students of that institution. They are all overseas men and know what the organization did for the soldier in time of war. Nothing definite has been announced as to how they expect to conduct the campaign.

Mrs. Dan R. Baker, who is chairman of the women who are making the campaign in the residence districts of Maryville, said this morning that some of the women were on the job yesterday and that they got some good results. Others are out today. Mrs. Baker is anxious that as many of them as can work today, on account of the Schol Day tomorrow and the teachers meeting that will be going on the latter part of the week.

H. E. Wright, who is chairman of the men who are to canvass the business district, said that he did not have any report yet but that he expected to be getting them in soon. He said that owing to the School Day and the Teachers meeting that it might be the latter part of the week before the men could get around to see everyone.

C. E. Wells, county chairman, said this morning that he thought the workers in the other towns of the county were on the job and that he expected reports to begin coming in soon.

S. H. Kemp at the Farmers Trust Company is treasurer.

Those who are to make the canvass in the business district of Maryville are Charles F. McCaffrey, S. H. Kemp, G. A. Fite, Thomas Wadley, George Moore, C. A. McCoppin, G. T. Westfall, William A. Miller, Dr. F. M. Ryan and Dr. F. R. Anthony.

ATTEMPT TO LIBERATE IRISH IRREGULARS

Civilians Are Struck by Flying Bullets And Crowds on Streets Thrown Into Panic

Dublin, October 10—At least two persons were killed and several injured in rioting and ambush attacks today and last night in an attempt to liberate 100 irregulars interned in Mountjoy prison. A regular battle was fought in the prison yard where revolvers and rifles were smuggled to the prisoners. Two were killed and two wounded in this outbreak.

Several civilians were struck by bullets in the heavy firing throughout the city and the ambush attacks. Bombs were thrown at the prison in an effort to break the walls. Soldiers in armored cars attacked from ambush throwing the crowded street into a panic.

Prisoners in the Kilkenny jail were discovered tunneling from the building.

FRANK ORCUTT TO LEAVE TOMORROW FOR LOS ANGELES.

Frank Orcutt will leave in the morning for Los Angeles, Calif., where he expects to be located during the next several months. On his way to that city he will visit at Oakland, Calif., with his daughter, Miss Alice Orcutt, who is teaching school there. Mr. Orcutt expects to do carpenter work in that city.

UNDERGROUNDWORK AT CONFERENCE

ISMET PASHA IS OBSTRUCTING PROCEEDINGS.

SULTAN'S RESIGNATION

More Than 400 Thousand Greeks, Mostly Women and Children, are Threatened.

London, Oct. 10.—The Near East armistice conference at Mudania is pictured as full of intrigue and underground politics in a report received from General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander at Constantinople, and a delegate to the conference. The cabinet met to discuss reports.

General Harrington wants further instruction owing to dilatory methods of Ismet Pasha, Turkish delegate who is obstructing the conference with minor points.

Premier Lloyd George is planning a great speech in defense of himself against personal attacks regarding his Near East policy.

London, Oct. 10.—More than four hundred thousand Greek refugees, mostly women and children, massed in Greece, Thrace and Aegean Sea are threatened with death from starvation and exposure. All were driven from their Near East home during the Turco-Greek trouble.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The navy department today ordered the battleship Denebola now at Philadelphia navy yards, to leave October 30 for Turkish waters.

London, October 10—Mahammed Sixth, Sultan of Turkey, defiantly tendered his resignation to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Angora government, but the acceptance was withheld, pending the outcome of the armistice negotiations with Mudania, the Morning Post said today.

WON'T GET WAR DEBT WITHIN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

This Is the Opinion of Representative Burton, Republican, of Ohio.

Washington, Oct. 10. — The United States need not expect payment of the allied debt of 11 billion dollars within twenty-five years, Representative Burton, Republican of Ohio, a member of the American debt funding commission said today. Burton has just returned from an extended tour in Europe with a congressional delegation who attended the Vienna meeting. Congress will probably be asked to extend the debt for that period.

RED CROSS MUST GIVE UP SOCIAL SERVICE OR CHARTER

Secretary Tells Washington Convention That Must Give up Relief Program Also.

Washington, Oct. 10. — Unless the American Red Cross abandons social service and local relief program and confines activities to relief time, war pestilence or a great calamity, their charter may be revoked, the national convention was informed today by Miss Boardman, secretary of the organization.

JUDGES ARE APPOINTED TO MAKE THE AWARD.

Mrs. Harry Todd, vice-chairman of the music and literature department, and Mrs. J. C. White and Mrs. W. C. Pierce of the arts and crafts department have been appointed judges to award the prize of $10 in gold which the Twentieth Century Club will give to the rural school for the best float depicting an episode of Missouri history. These judges with those of other organizations will witness the parade from the band stand, and Mrs. Harry Todd will award the prize as soon as possible after the parade. The points which will be considered in judging the floats are the general appearance, historic accuracy, originality and costumes.

Roy Godsey, special correspondent for the St. Louis Star, is in Maryville to make a big story for his paper regarding the School Day.

WHY DO BIRDS GO SOUTH?

Jack Frost is beginning to get in his work up north in Canada. Birds soon fly south. These migratory flights are mysteries of science. How do they know when to start and where to go and how to find their way? Bird migration "is a very old habit, an inborn instinct which was developed ages ago, and which manifests itself year after year in a uniform manner and without any remarkable conformity to immediate conditions."

This is Prof. J. Arthur Thompson's explanation in his "Outline of Science." In other words, the annual southward flight of birds is a habit developed gradually through thousands of years.

One scientific explanation is that the Great Ice Age, when glaciers moved down from the north, drove birds south. When the ice slowly retreated they flew back to their homes in warm summer, but returned to the new homes in winter.

One guess is as good as another.

Ever wonder how fast birds travel when they migrate south? Some of them reach a speed of more than 50 miles an hour. When weary, as you have noticed, they camp for a rest—"hang around" a certain locality for a day or so.

Ducks travel 44 to 59 miles an hour and small songbirds 20 to 37 miles an hour, according to Colonel Meinertzhagen's observations. The birds named the "swift" has been known to pass an airplane doing 68 miles an hour, and reaches a speed of more than 100 miles when flying with its energy and skill.

Hunters, now oiling their shotguns, soon will be shooting wild geese and ducks.

These geese travel in a sort of V formation, one side longer than the other, like a broken wishbone. Shoot the leader and the formation closes up, the next bird in line taking the fallen leader's place.

Shoot the leader of some kinds of wild ducks and, say the Ojibway Indians, the flock flutters to the ground, preferably a swamp, and presently rise after much chattering in which they seem to elect a new leader.

This is the sort of adventure, romance and mystery that flies over our heads and exists all around us in nature. And yet some people frequently yawn, bored with life, and complain that they can find nothing interesting. —Jefferson City Capital-News.

The voters of Missouri who are not satisfied with present conditions should see that a democratic legislature is elected. Governor Hyde has controlled both the governor's mansion and the legislature the past two years. The governor can not be changed this year but the legislature can, if the people vote as they talk.

Among the amendments to be voted upon in November is amendment number three providing for the upkeep of the state highways already provided for. The provision for an expenditure of sixty millions of dollars for state highways does not provide anything for their upkeep. The proposed amendment is intended to take care of their upkeep by providing that certain taxes upon the automobiles shall be used for that purpose. It does not levy any new tax but simply directs that certain taxes already levied shall be used in this manner. High class roads must be kept up or they will eventually get in bad condition and this amendment should be adopted.

FAN IN THE BLEACHER KNOWS LITTLE OF THE REAL WORK

He Does Not Realize How Important The Interference Of Other Men And The Training

To most people the game of football is what you see from the bleachers. This is the least part of the game. For weeks and months in the past the coach has been busy molding a team, for the most part from green men who do not even know the fundamental principles of the game. While the fan has been watching the baseball reports or has been playing a rotten game of golf, the men who are trying for places on the team have been busy scrimmaging, signal practicing or receiving a chalk talk from the coach.

To have a good football team you must make a good machine of the men, a machine which is perfect in every move and in which each man does his part.

To the men that play football it is an all-year game. In the early fall, practice is begun. It extends over six weeks when the year's schedule is commenced. This schedule extends to the Christmas holidays. The men then begin to harden their muscles for the hard siege which is due in the next year's grind. In the spring most schools have spring football practice. It is estimated that most men spend eighty hours practice to one hour on the gridiron. It is rare that ever a man is delevoped into a good football player in one season. He needs at least one year of experience before he can learn the game.

Another thing that is news to most football fans is the large staff which is required in perfecting the team. On this staff is usually included two coaches, the line coach and the back field coach. Besides this a good second squad in necessary. The better the second squad and the harder it makes the first string men work the more efficient a team can be expected to be. In many cases it is near a draw in scrimmage between the first and second squad. This is true at the first of the year before the first squad 'hits its stride.'

Many football fans, when watching a player make a sensational run, never give the other men credit. It is only because of good interference by the backfield and the line men doing their part that a man ever gets away and makes a broken field run. If the proper interference is made, it is often said that a small child could carry the ball and make a touchdown.

A great part of the afternoon work is spent in signal practice. It is essential that every man know just where the play is going, so he can make a hole in the line or be ready to act as interference if an end run play is called. On the offensive the men in the line usually have the jump on the other men as they know, because of their knowledge of the signals, just when the ball will be put in play.

Football is a game that is rapidly spreading over the United States. Nearly all high schools that have enough boys enrolled have football teams and play against rival schools.

One of our salesmen friends at a clothing store tells us they are not going to wear fur collars on the overcoats this winter so we will be right in style again.

A certain south side man who we have known for many years had never been known to go home before 10 o'clock any night. The other night when he reached the front porch he had a hunch to look at his watch and found that he was 15 minutes early so he seated himself on the front steps and waited until the clock struck so as not to startle his wife who has a weak heart.

We have been informed that none of the women who pose for the carpet sweeper advertisements do their own house work.

One of our friends wore his fall overcoat the other evening for the first time since taking it out of the moth balls. He found what he thought was a piece of candy in his pocket. One bite convinced him that wife did not do a very good job of removing the moth chasers.

BABE LEFT ON BED BY MOTHER BREAKS NECK

Honeygrove, Tex., Oct. 10.—Finding it necessary to go to the fields for a few hours, Mrs. Ollie Cantrell, a young married woman, sang her four-months-old baby to sleep and left him happily dreaming on the bed. When she returned, accompanied by her husband, they found the little one had fallen from the bed and broken its neck.

You certainly realize the difference in Corn Flakes when you eat Kellogg's

From the instant you open the generous sized package till they're tucked away in great and tiny "bread-baskets," Kellogg's Corn Flakes are a delight! You can't even look at those big sunny-brown flakes, all joyously flavored, crisp and crunchy, without getting hungry! Kellogg's are never leathery or tough or hard to eat—they're just wonderful!

Such a spread for big and little boys and girls—the sweetheart of fine white corn kernels deliciously flavored and deliciously toasted in Kellogg's own way! You can't imagine anything more joyous to eat at any hour.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are childhood's ideal food! Kiddies can eat as much as they can carry! Every mouthful makes for health, for sleepy-time-stomachs!

VENT OF VOLCANO IN CITY

Authorities of Edinburgh, Scotland, Somewhat Stirred Up by Unlooked for Discovery.

The back yard of the tenement of 39 St. Leonards hill, Edinburgh, adjacent to the king's park, has suddenly become a center of interest to geologists through the discovery, by Cuthbert Day, secretary of the Edinburgh Geological society, of a volcanic vent. The place already has been visited by geologists from Norway and America, and has furnished material for some animated discussions.

The visitor walking through the "close" to the common drying green (i. e., common to all tenants, and not necessarily grassy) is confronted with the jagged, almost perpendicular, face of a small quarry, long in disuse. On this face is exposed a basalt sill, just where the once molten igneous rock was brecciated by explosion in bygone ages, and has given rise to a parasitic volcanic vent, mainly choked by basaltic debris. It can be seen clearly where the local explosion, with its concomitant escape of hot volcanic gases, notably cooled the adjacent portions of the basalt sill.

E. B. Bailey, M. A., F. G. S., of his majesty's geological survey, expounded recently his interpretation of the phenomenon to the Edinburgh Geological society. His conclusions will be published in the transactions of the society.—Christian Science Monitor.

PLAYED WITH NATURAL GAS

Earliest Settlers Could Not Understand Wonderful Part It Was to Play in Civilization.

Natural gas first was used for illuminating purposes in Fredonia, N. Y., early in the Nineteenth century. Indians formerly inhabiting the region had legends of burning springs in Canadaway creek, a little stream running through the town. Children of the early white settlers amused themselves by setting large onion stalks over fissures in the slate rock at the bed of the stream, packing them around with sand, and lighting the gas which emerged from the top.

The first gas well, tapping a pocket 200 feet below the surface, was drilled in 1826, the year Lafayette made his last triumphal tour of America. A lead pipe was laid on the top of the ground to pipe the fluid to the tavern where he was entertained when he passed through the town on his way from the West. Lafayette commented on the new light in his journal, still preserved in Paris.

Japan's Unique Population.

There has never before been a nation at once so numerous and so homogeneous as the Japanese. Their population is estimated at somewhere between 60,000,000 and 75,000,000. Their territory, hardly so extensive as was controlled by our Revolutionary colonies, contains from half to three-quarters as many people as inhabit the whole United States. This population, too, is remarkably uniform. Those who know Japan best agree that, if we except the negligible aborigines of some northern provinces, you can hardly find among the Japanese any difference much more pronounced than those which might distinguish New Hampshire from Connecticut. Compare this with our country, or with the widely various races and languages of China or of India, or with England, Scotland and Wales, and you will see that the patriotism of Japan has to sanction its intensity a population unique in human record. —Scribner's Magazine.

Green Dye From Corn Cobs.

Science has found a way of utilizing all corn cobs, short or long, in the manufacture of various chemicals. As the corn cob consists of cellulose, which is valuable for the making of many products, such as celluloid and paper, it is considered desirable to save the substance of the cob. The furfural, therefore, is taken from the extract which is obtained by boiling the cob in water and the cellulose can thus be kept for other purposes.

This liquid is employed for many purposes in industrial chemistry, and can be so treated that it will yield a bright green dye, which is much liked by women of fashion, says the Detroit News.

MISS FRA CLARK HOLDING MEETING

WITH HIGHLAND CLUB AT J. C. CHESTNUT'S.

ASSISTANCE IN BUYING

Is to Be at Other Meetings Thursday, Friday and Saturday—School Day Tomorrow.

Miss Fra Clark of the extension service of the University of Missouri arrived in Maryville this morning and is holding a meeting today with the Highland Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Chestnut, five miles northeast of Maryville. The work taken up this morning at the meeting was that of renovation and this afternoon it is home decoration. The renovation work pertains to rugs, linoleums, shades and curtains and cooking utensils, and that on home decoration pertains to selection of paper, window trimming, rugs and furniture.

"The thing that I try to bring out in my work," said Miss Clark this morning, "is that of getting the women to understand better how to renovate the things that they have and what to buy in order that so much renovation will not be needed. I try to assist folks to understand what to buy in order to get the best thing on the market for their money.

"As an example of what I mean, take for instance a percolator. The handle of some of them that are on the market will burn off and it is necessary to repair it or throw it away. On others the handle is made in such a way or such material that it will not burn. It is obvious which kind one had better buy."

Miss Clark will take tomorrow off to attend the Nodaway County School Day. Thursday she will be with the Parnell Willing Workers Club at Parnell, the meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Klaas. Friday she will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Barrett at Skidmore and Saturday at the home of Mrs. Miles Nicholas in Maryville, where the Herron Homemakers will meet.

PRINCE UMBERTO IS POPULAR IN ITALY

Like Prince of Wales, He Is Young, Handsome And Charming Youth.

Rome, Oct. 10.—Prince Umberto, eldest son of the King of Italy, who has just reached his majority, is the Italian counterpart of the Prince of Wales.

Many believe that Prince Umberto is the most handsome of all Europe's heirs-apparent; certainly he is popular with his people.

Very tall and dark, like his Montenegrin mother, and with her large, expressive brown eyes, the Prince has a smile which is charming.

Prince Umberto has an excellent military record, having entered the army a year ago as a private, gradually working his way upward to a commision as sub-lieutenant. Since the age of twelve he has been actively interested in the work of the Italian Boy Scouts and has been largely responsible for the growth of this organization in his homeland.

Italians complain that they do not see enough of the Prince, and they envey the manner in which the Prince of Wales moves about among his father's subjects.

Year 'Round Comfort at a Modest Cost

The 1923 Buick Four Sedan—$1395

The new Buick four cylinder, five-passenger sedan has every convenience and comfort of the finest closed car—and at a price that fits the purse of the average family.

The Fisher-built body is trimmed and upholstered in fine plush with hardware of a handsome pattern. Wide doors with large plate glass windows, adjustable to any position, give easy access to the roomy compartments. Silk shades, a soft dome-light and fine carpeting are all of a quality found only in higher priced closed cars.

The lower body and higher radiator and hood, give this sedan a distinguished appearance that is heightened by the crown fenders, drum type head and parking lamps.

Marked refinements in the chassis and in the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine increase the riding comfort and add materially to the inherent Buick qualities of dependability and performance.

BUICKS AND GOODYEARS

WHAT DO YOU KNOW OF YOUR COUNTRY'S HISTORY?

Professor Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard University, has submitted the following twelve questions to readers of the Mentor Magazine in a prize contest. Professor Hart says that any high school student should be able to answer them after a little time in a reference library, and that a well-informed adult should be able to answer them off hand. Can you?

1. Who were the first white discoverers to set foot on territory now known as the United States—Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf Coasts—and when and where did they land?

2. Who were the following, and what part did they play in American History? Tecumseh? Osceola? Sacagawea? Massasoit Powhatan Red Jacket? Sequoyah? Geronomo?

3. Where are the following, and for what is each noted? Alamo? El Capitan? Great Stone Face? Dark and Bloody Ground? Lake of the Woods? Sutter's Mill?

4. What persons are commonly known under the following popular names, and for what reason was the name given to each? Fuss and Feathers? Mad Anthony? Little Giant? Little Mac? Little Magician? Old Bullion? Old Hickory? Mill Boy of the Slashes? Swamp Fox? Marse Robert?

5. For what person or persons were the following places or regions named? Carolina? Cincinnati? Joliet? Louisiana? Houston? Marquette? Martha's Vineyard? Pittsburgh? Seattle? Virginia?

6. Who said the following, and under what circumstances? "We must all hang together, or we shall all hang separately." "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." "Let us have peace." "Rum, Romanism, and Rebellion." "We are confronted by a condition—not a theory." "Good enough Morgan, till after election." "We have met the enemy and they are ours." "Unconditional surrender. I shall immediately move upon your works." "Let no guilty man escape."

7. How did it happen that George Washington was once taken prisoner by the French?

8. How did Lincoln prepare and deliver his Gettysburg speech, and what was the effect of it at the time?

9. What were the three most important battles on land or on water in the Civil War, and why were they the most important?

10. What is the origin of the name "Mormon," and how and why did the Mormons go out to Utah?

11. Why was the American army withdrawn from Cuba After the capture of Santiago?

12. When and how was the Washington Monument in Washington constructed?

Elmo and Vicinity
L. W. JAMES

The harvest is past, the summer is ended and we are on the last quarter of the year putting away the largest crops in our history. This writer broke the sod in his farm with four yoke of cattle in 1870. Today the same ground is broken with two Fordson tractors, pulling four plows.

Earl Hopper has bought 100 acres of land in Kansas and moved to it. His son and Tom Smith will manage the 240 acres here next year.

The Elmo school got off on the wrong foot this year. First month: One rape case, one circus, one fight, Ambrose King broke Ora Ecker's jaw with his fist in the stairway, and the directors expelled 2 or 3 boys from school.

Henry Neff is the most accommodating man around here. He got up and gave his seat to 3 ladies at the show.

Lots of cattle is being brought in to feed this year. E. A. Carlson 50, E. O. James 40, H. C. Kinman 25, Roy Pruitt and R. T. Lamar a bunch each, L. W. James 70.

Considerable young cattle dying and some hog cholera reported.

Wm. Ecker is the champion shot, having killed thirteen ducks at 2 shots.

IMPROVED PARACHUTE BRINGS GRIEF TO BOY

Urbana, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Strapping an ordinary umbrella to his body, twelve-year-old Ralph Ammon leaped off the top of a 25-foot building here.

Hitting the ground with a heavy thud, the child lay in a heap with the wrecked improvised parachute on top of him.

He was carried to the home of his mother, Mrs. Frank Ammon, North Russell street, where it was found that apparently, his only injury consisted of a temporary loss of speech, due to his breath being knocked out of him.

Mrs. Anna Stauble of Maryville and Mrs. M. E. Torrey of Pickering went to St. Joseph this morning.

The Service Rendered by Efficiency in Gasoline Production

THE man who fills his tank at a Service Station, or feeds his tractor from a tank wagon, may not realize it but sheer efficiency on the part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is to a large degree the reason why the gasoline is there when he wants it.

Oil News says: "During the winter 1921-1922 the majority of the refineries in the Mid-Continent field were idle. This was due largely to the fact that they could not refine and sell at a profit. They were in a way inefficient. Many could not operate. Others that might have operated could not get the crude. The large plants could and did finance themselves and sold some of their output as they made it at a profit."

Keen efficiency — in small, as well as in big things, has enabled the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to refine and sell petroleum products at a fair profit, under the most competitive of business conditions.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has 1600 competitors in the Middle West.

Standard Oil Company (Indiana) efficiency runs through every operation. It governs the appointment of executives. It selects oil men of long training and experience who know when and what type of crude to buy. It directs the style of machinery, the kind of stills to be used. It determines the various products to be refined from the crude so that there may be no waste of oil, effort, time or overhead.

This efficiency, and the confidence which the public places in it, enables the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to maintain its position as the leader in the industry. It enables the management to plan for the future with confidence, and to keep its refineries going during periods of low consumption that it may be in position to meet adequately the unusual demands during periods of greater consumption.

It is this efficiency which has spotted the country with bulk and service stations and caused more than 6600 motor tank wagons to traverse the streets and highways supplying the people everywhere with first quality petroleum products at prices which are fair.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) submits that such efficient management is the essential basis of the valuable service it renders.

CRITICIZED WORK OF FRIEND

Edward Fitzgerald Wrote Freely of His Approval and Disapproval of Tennyson's Verse.

The whole myth of Arthur's Round Table dynasty in Britain presents itself before me with a sort of cloudy Stonehenge grandeur. I am not sure if the old knights' adventures do not fell upon me better touched in some lyrical way (like your "Lady of Shalott") than when elaborated into epic form. I never could care for Spenser, Tasso or even Ariosto, whose epic has a ballad ring about it. . . . Anyhow, Alfred, while I feel how pure, noble, and holy your work is—and whole phrases, lines, and sentences of it will abide with me, and I am sure, with men after me—I read on till the "Lincolnshire Farmer" drew tears from my eyes. I was got back to the substantial rough-spun Nature I knew; and the old brute, invested by you with the solemn humor of Humanity, like Shakespeare's Shallow, became a more pathetic phenomenon than the knights who revisit the world in your other verse. There! I cannot help it, and have made a clean breast.—Edward Fitzgerald.

TRUST CO. TELLS WINNERS SATURDAY

109 EXHIBITORS ARE IN THE SHOW

PROCEEDS TO HOSPITAL

A Lot of Fruit and a Freek Potato Has Also Been Brought in—List Of Contestants

Exhibits in the Corn Show, conducted by the Farmers Trust Co. of this city, have been entered by 109 farmers. The exhibits consist of three ears of any kind of corn and the contest closed last Saturday. This coming Saturday the winners of the show will be announced. There are ten cash prizes ranging from $10 down to $1.

Following the awarding of the prizes the corn will be sold at auction and the proceeds will go to the St. Francis Hospital. A number of persons have brought fruit to be exhibited. This will not be judged, neither will it be sold but it will be donated to the hospital.

This morning F. R. Marcell took several pictures of the exhibit. Roy Godsey, a representative of the St. Louis Star has already asked for permission to print one of these pictures in his paper.

A unique potato is also on exhibit. It is really two potatoes grown together and it greatly resembles a cow. Nature formed this "spud" with ears and facial features and a grape vine tail has been added along with toothpick legs. This potato-cow is called the mascot of the exhibit.

The names of the entries in the show follow:

A Girl Who Waited 25 Years

By MYRA C. LANE

(©, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

He certainly was voluble, the rather shabby, middle-aged man in the compartment, but then, again, he was interesting. He had been over all the world, made and lost four fortunes, and now was coming back to his home town after an absence of 25 years with a modest competence.

"And, boys," he said, "I'm up against the greatest problem of my life."

We all looked at him with renewed interest. We had been a little bit bored by his account of the habits of the Puam-Puam islanders; likewise by his story of the shark and the cuttle-fish.

"When I left Linstock—that's the station after next—there was I need hardly tell you, a girl. I was a young fellow of twenty-five, and she was two and twenty. We were in love. We'd always cared for each other, and we'd sworn that so long as we lived there never should be any one else for either of us. I'm going back absolutely confident that that girl, if she lives, and lives there, is still waiting for me.'

"That's what I'd call an optimist," said the fat drummer. "The girl doesn't live who—"

"No, nor oughtn't to, neither," whispered the man in the gray felt hat. "The selfish old hog! He seems to thing that after trapesing the world for a quarter of a century he's comin' home to find that Griselda's been waiting for him all through the marrying years of her life. I jest hope she's married to a stock broker and has three sets of twins."

"Of course, you realize that your expectation is not according to human nature," put in the man who looked like a book-agent.

"Gentlemen," began the middle-aged man, "I know what I'm talking about. We stop half an hour at Linstock, and as her house is about 50 yards from the railroad line, I invite you all to get out and accompany me there. This here station's Alma. Linstock's the next."

"What are your grounds for this belief?" inquired the man with the purple tie.

"Why, she swore always to be true to me," answered the middle-aged man.

"Has your experience of life taught you that a woman's word is usually to be relied on in such matters?" inquired the man with the gray felt hat.

"Gentlemen, frankly, no!" answered the middle-aged man. "But this girl's different. If she hasn't been true to me, then all my faith in womanhood is blasted."

"The infernal impudence of him!" whispered the man in the purple tie.

"Ah, well, we'll see what we shall see," said the man, who looked like a book agent.

"Linstock!" sang out the conductor.

The train was slowing down. It was a largish village, a junction, and there would be at least half an hour's stop waiting for the limited to pass. As the train drew up there was a simultaneous hasty move toward the door.

"Poor fuss!" whispered the man in the gray felt hat.

"Say, if I'd as much faith as that I'd be manager of the district east of the Mississippi," muttered the drummer. "Must have been taking a faith course, that guy must!"

The middle-aged man solemnly led the party out of the depot. They made their way down the untidy street toward a row of neat, but aged cottages sheltering in the shadow of some lofty elms. The middle-aged man turned and waited to gather in the party.

"The old cottage," he said, pointing to the second from the end of the row. "Not pulled down. I knew it wouldn't be."

As they approached it the sound of infantile screaming within was borne upon the slight breeze. The drummer grinned.

"Seems to me," he said, "our friend's hopes are doomed to be busted."

"If she'd married she wouldn't be living there," objected the man in the purple tie.

"Might have come home for a visit," objected the man in the gray felt hat.

"Gentlemen," said the middle-aged man, "she swore that she'd be waiting for me at the gate and—there she is."

We stared. A prettyish, faded-looking woman of about forty-two was leaning on the gate, looking at us. The middle-aged man ran forward and clasped her in his arms.

"Darling, I've come back to you!"

"I knew you would, darling," she replied.

They were kissing, actually kissing each other, as if they were young lovers. We were all taken aback. They had forgotten all but themselves in the world.

A harish, discontented-looking girl came up to us.

"Gee, I wish ma'd make a break-away soon!" she said. "She's been kind of crazy since Tom's letter come. I can't do a thing with little Sis; he yells to beat the band if his grandma don't rock him bye-bye."

Vigorous and Profane.

"You say your article has caused vigorous comment. Why, I didn't know it had been published."

"It hasn't. But it kept the people in the adjoining flats awake while I was pounding it off on the typewriter."—Boston Evening Transcript.

PRESIDENT LAMKIN SPEAKS ON FIRE PREVENTION

Wolfers on School Day and Dr. Fryer on Salvation Army Fund Campaign.

President Lot W. Lamkin of the State Teachers College was the speaker at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon last evening. He spoke on fire prevention, the national fire prevention week closing yesterday. Seven facts and statistics on the damage of fire were stressed by the speaker who said that 90 per cent of the fires could have been prevented if necessary precaution had been taken. He referred to high insurance rates being due to hazards.

Fred R. Wolfers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, praised the fire prevention committee headed by Miss Virginia Rose for its work, during the fire prevention week. Mr. Wolfers also spoke of the importance of the School Day celebration tomorrow and urged the people of Maryville to do everything possible for the entertainment of the visitors here that day.

Dr. C. P. Fryer of the county health department told of the work of the Salvation Army and urged the people to contribute to that organization during this week's drive.

J. G. GREMS ON FIRST MURDER JURY HERE

WAS IN 1869—JAMES McKEE ALSO A MEMBER

FOR HAND OF A GIRL

Solomon McAlpin Killed John T. Calicutt a Few Miles North of Maryville

J. G. Grems, seventy-nine years old, residing on East First street, is one of the two surviving jurors who officiated in the first murder case which was heard in Nodaway County. All of the other persons but one connected with the case are dead. The judge, the attorneys for both the defense and the prosecution, the sheriff and the circuit clerk are all dead, as are ten members of the jury. The other survivor is James McKee of Ravenwood, who was also a juror.

The story of the murder and the trial as told by Mr. Grems and extracted from the History of Nodaway County, follows:

On Friday evening of August 19, 1866, between sundown and dark, Solomon McAlpin and John T. Calicutt, two young men living near Hawleyville in Page County, Iowa, left their homes in a wagon pulled by a yoke of red oxen for St. Joseph to purchase a load of apples. On the following Monday McAlpin returned home and circulated the report that Calicutt had gone to the Missouri River or to the mountains, to seek his fortune and that he intended to neither write home to his family nor to return until the object of his strange and novel adventure had been fully accomplished.

On the blankets which they had taken with them and which McAlpin brought back with him were spots of blood. McAlpin explained them by stating that on their trip down they had killed a pig and being about to be detected by some passers by had thrown it into the wagon and covered it with the blankets.

Several other circumstances in the conduct and statements of McAlpin caused suspicion at length to fasten upon him as the probable murderer of Calicutt. In February, 1868, a skeleton was found near the road a few miles north of Maryville, which bore marks of identity which served to point out that it was the skeleton of John T. Calicutt.

At the April term of the Circuit Court of Nodaway County an indictment was found against McAlpin, charging him with the murder of Calicutt. He was arrested and cited to be tried in the October term of court but owing to the importance of the case an adjourned meeting of the court was held and in december, 1869, McAlpin came to trial.

Here is the story in the words of Mr. Grems:

"The trial started on Monday and lasted all week. I was then a young man. Testimony was brought forward that would seem to prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that McAlpin murdered Calicutt. However, McAlpin had a clever defense. His attorneys, Col. W. P. Hepburn and Judge Morsman, both of Clarinda, were both eloquent orators and they brought forward evidence to the effect that the slain man was seen on several occasions after he was reported to have been murdered.

"When the jury went to its room on Friday night it went into an all-night session. Some of the members were for hanging McAlpin. Others were more lenient and some had a shadow of a doubt about his guilt. The next morning a verdict of guilty of second degree murder was brought in. The sentence was named at ten years in the penitentiary.

McAlpin was attentive and serious throughout the trial but he did not seem to be affected by any of the testimony. His facial expression was always the same. However, when brought to receive his sentence he seemed stupified and shook his head when asked if he had anything to say."

It was said that McAlpin's object in murdering Calicutt was that they were rivals for the hand of one young lady at their home town in Iowa. After returning and before the murder charge was brought against him, McAlpin secured the consent of the girl to marry him and they were wedded.

Mr. Grems remembers the circumstances of the case quite well. He is able to give the names of all the persons connected with it but he failed to remember all of the jurors. The officials of the trial, who are all dead were:

Judge, I. C. Parker; attorney for the prosecution, Major B. K. Davis; circuit attorney, assisted by I. V. McMillan, Esq.; attorneys for the defense, Col. W. P. Hepburn and Judge Morsman. John Ham was sheriff of the county and John C. Terhune was the circuit clerk.

As was before mentioned Mr. Grems and James McKee of Ravenwood are the only survivors of the trial. The other day these two men accidently met on the corner of Third and Main streets, in front of the Nodaway Valley Bank and they began to talk over old times. The trial was spoken of as it was gone over by the two survivors.

Although well along in life both of these men have excellent memories and are well preserved, for their years.

SUPERINTENDENTS VISIT NODAWAY COUNTY SCHOOLS

Eight of Them Took Lunch at Garrett and Then Gave Tests at a Number of Others.

Miss Grace M. Shepherd and eight county superintendents from the Northwest Missouri district left Maryville at 11 o'clock this morning for the Garrett School, the rural demonstration school of the State Teachers College, where they were entertained at a luncheon. They then went to a number of different rural schools where tests in reading were given. Each of the superintendents visited a different school.

The superintendents will have a meeting tomorrow morning at which they will go over and check up the results of their visit to the schools.

The superintendents in the party were Mrs. S. E. Grebe, Atchison County; Miss Gertrude Fulcher, Platte County; Earl C. Duncan, Gentry County; F. N. Carter, Harrison County; Mrs. Allie Wilson, Mercer County; Miss Elizabeth Brainerd, Grundy County; Miss Edna Craven, Worth County, and Leslie G. Somerville, Nodaway County.

Some of the schools that it was planned to visit were Mt. Ayr, Swallow, Ireland, Herron, Council Corner, Castell, St. Mary's and Royster.
